

Easter Tealight holders

Key Vocabulary

ceramic	When clay is fired it is called ceramic.
cross hatch	When 2 pieces of clay are added together, each piece needs to be scored to help them join together properly.
kiln	The large oven that clay needs to be put into turn it into ceramic. The temperature gets up to about 1200 degrees celsius.
slip	The clay glue that is used to join 2 pieces of clay together.
score	To scratch marks on a piece of clay to show your pattern or to join two pieces together.
glaze	A paint used for clay. Seals the clay to make it waterproof.

Key Facts

A clay slab is a portion of clay that has been flattened into a sheet. Clay slabs are most often made by using a rolling pin or a slab roller. Usually, the slab will have an even thickness throughout, and it can be used for hand-building pottery, known as slab pottery.

The dove is in fact the animal that according to the Christian religion fully represents peace, salvation but above all the resurrection.

The cross is a symbol both of Christ himself and of the faith of Christians.

Tealight holders

Making tealight holders

Easter symbols and images

© GoodAndBeautiful.com - rep000042

Tier 2 Word

Definition

method

The steps that need to be followed.

manipulate

When you control someone, something or a situation.

evaluate

To think about something and make a decision about its value.