Dear Parents/Carers,

Well done all, we have made it to the final week of an incredibly unusual half term (although I do appear to be writing something similar most half terms of late). Well done for keeping up with all of the remote learning and for finding your way through it. Fingers crossed it will not be long until we can have everyone back in school safely.

Normally, we would have parents' evenings around this time. We are holding off on these until we hear and see what the next half term looks like. In reality, as you have all been engaging in the remote learning the majority of you have had far more interaction with your child's class teacher than normal, discussing the various aspects of the remote learning. Please continue to email the class emails if you have specific aspects of your child's learning that you wish to discuss and I will update you on the format of parents' evening as we move towards Easter.

We received a couple more entries to our virtual art gallery last week, including some of the work of some of the key worker children. Have a look at the fabulous gallery of work here

Mr Mott's Thursday music sessions for the families and the community - please have a look at the school website here. Mr Mott has some family friendly songs that he is sharing with you for those interested at 4pm Thursday.

As mentioned last week, the children's music sessions will remain the following times until at least half term:

Buzzards	1.20pm
Sparrowhawks	1.55pm
Kestrels	2.35pm

With an expected update on schools from the Prime Minister this evening, please keep an eye out for updates from me later this week. As mentioned before, we do not get any advance warning of what is going to be announced; so we will hear at the same time as yourselves.

If you are concerned about screen time (for yourselves as well as for your children), have a look at this publication from Beacon House which contains some helpful ideas.

Thank you for your continued support and please remember your best is good enough.

Thomas Moore,
Headteacher
