

brownfield sites

business

commercial counties

environmental/climate regions

geology

greenfield site

national park

natural resources

Selling produce to make a profit, such as crops that have been grown or fish that have been caught.

A business sells goods or services to make money.

Sites that have previously been developed and have to be cleared before redevelopment can take place.

The type of rocks and earth in each area.

Areas within the UK which have similar weather conditions and temperatures.

The areas that the United Kingdom is split up into. Each county has a council that organises things like roads, schools and services for the community.

Resources that occur naturally in the world like oil, coal, gas, minerals and rock, wind and water. Some of these are non-renewable which means that once they have been used, they cannot be re-made.

An area that is protected from some forms of development because it is regarded as being of outstanding environmental value.

A site that has not been built on before.

settlement

thematic map

trade

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Buying and selling things.

A map that shows how the land is used or other information about the population or climate of an area.

A place where people have settled to live. This could be a hamlet, village, town, city or conurbation.

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here

Insert text here